Jake Holhouse is the President of HH Insurance in St. Petersburg, FL. He founded HH Insurance with his father, Ron , in June 2018. Jake grew up in the insurance industry working for his father's agency throughout high school, Insurance in St. Petersburg, FL. After graduating from Florida State University, Jake worked for American Strategic Insurance (ASI) as a national account manager, specializing in the national home builder accounts. Following ASI, he decided to work alongside his father again at Insurance. They grew the business at an astronomical rate, eventually selling the agency to a top 25 national agency. Following the sale, Jake worked at Heritage Insurance Holdings as an Executive Vice President of Business Development and assisted in product expansion from 3 states to 13 states. Seeing the opportunity of opening a new independent agency, Jake opened HH Insurance in June 2018. In Jake's time at Florida State University, he earned and Bachelors and Masters degree in Risk Management and Insurance. Additionally, he also earned a Chartered Property Casualty Underwriter (CPCU) designation. Jake sits as an advisor to the risk management and insurance program at Florida State University, as well as multiple local community service positions.
